Beneath Car and Miss Pettigrew
Was Injured

Charles Holliday Harrison, better known to his many Sedalia friends as "Bill", 909 West Fifth street, was fatally injured about 10 o'clock Saturday morning, when the car in which he was riding and driven by Miss Nell Pettigrew, 112½ East Fifth street, skidded on slick pavement and overturned. The accident occurred on Highway No. 5, just seven miles south of the Boonville Junction of Highways 40 and 5.

Mr. Harrison and Miss Pettigrew were en route to Columbia to visit with Mr. Harrison's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Halcomb, and to attend the Oklahoma-Missouri football game. They were driving a 1949 Oldsmobile 88 at the time of the mishap.

Car Was Loaned Him

Mr. Harrison had taken his own car a Cadillac to the Routsong Motor Co. to be serviced and the new Oldsmobile was loaned to him to drive to Columbia.

Miss Pettigrew, Saturday afternoon, told a reporter that she was driving the car and they were traveling about 40-miles an hour. She said she believed they were on a straight part of the highway when the mishap occurred, and the car suddenly skidded on the wet black-top and swerved around, rolling over.

As the car went into a spin both Mr. Harrison and Miss Pettigrew were thrown out the right door and it rolled over on them, both being pinned beneath the automobile.

Miss Pettigrew told a reporter that Mr. Harrison called to her to get free of the car just before he died. She said she pushed but could not budge the car. Finding herself pinned she began screaming and passing motorists stopped. Within seconds a group of men had gathered around the car and lifted it off of her and Mr. Harrison. Miss Pettigrew said she was caught by her right foot and leg.

Dr. Bager at Scene

Dr. J. W. Bager, 1601 West Third street, arrived on the scene a few minutes after it occurred, as did C. C. DeLozier, Dean Apartments, a Mr. Renz, Cole Camp and Dr. R. H. Ahrens, Warsaw also stopped at the spot and with other men lifted the car over. Dr. Bager said Mr. Harrison was pinned by the top of the car which was lying on top of him, Miss Pettigrew, he said, was pinned and had it not been for a small ditch, she too might have been killed. She was in a sitting position on the bank, a portion of her body in the ditch and her legs on the grass shoulder.

When the car was lifted off her she was pulled upon the embankment where Dr. Bager made an examination and remained with her until an ambulance arrived. He said Mr. Harrison had been dead several minutes before his body was freed.

At the hospital Miss Pettigrew said that Mr. Harrison told her he didn't like to borrow the car fearing they might have an accident. She said that only a few minutes before the accident he remarked, let's drive slow and careful.

She was brought to the Bothwell in the Goodwin-Boller ambulance where Dr. Pete Siegel rendered medical attention. Miss Pettigrew suffered a fracture of the pelvis, bruises and shock.

The body of Mr. Harrison was taken to the Goodwin-Boller Funeral Home in Boonville after Prosecuting Attorney Lane Harlan, Sheriff Leo Ross and State Highway Patrolman J. E. Seely of Boonville, went to the scene to view the body and accident. Dr. Diekroeger, coroner, had left for Columbia, and was not available at the time, however, Saturday night after an investigation he said an inquest was not necessary and the body was released to be sent to Sedalia.

Gillespie's will go to Boonville, this morning, and return the body to their Funeral Home.

The automobile was taken to the Biertel Garage at Boonville and is being brought to Sedalia to Routsong's. The body of the car was badly smashed.

Mr. Harrison was born at Warrensburg, Mo., October 5, 1886; the son of the late Pauline Holliday and Charles Harvey Harrison. He was reared and educated in the schools at Warrensburg and graduated from the then

Aid Prospects
Are Damaged
Through SnubSenator Thomas
Oppose More Funds
To One Country

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 12—(AP)

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) said today one European country has damaged its prospects of getting more Marshall plan aid by snubbing the senate appropriations sub-committee.

The senator, who is chairman of the sub-committee, did not name the country, but members of his party said he meant Sweden.

Told that reporters drew the inference he was referring to Sweden, Thomas said:

"If that is the conclusion they drew it is perfectly all right with me. I will not, however, go any further than my original statement."

In his original statement, Thomas said when the sub-committee visited one country the government officials acted as if they did not know we were within a thousand miles of the place. x x x any more money granted to that country will be over my protest."

"The country I refer to has helped no one in the last 135 years, x x x anyone with a military uniform on in that country is a spy x x x. They saw some easy money and they grabbed it—now they want more."

Sweden had received $79,000,000 in Marshall aid up to mid-October. About half the shipments to Sweden were petroleum and products. The rest included machinery, iron, steel, chemicals and fibers.

The committee, which is investigating how aid funds are spent, has visited Belgium, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, Luxembourg and Switzerland, and has yet to visit Greece, Spain, Italy and Britain.

A member of the group, who asked that his name not be used, said "we have discussed at great length the wonderful reception we were given in Brussels, Oslo, Copenhagen, Frankfurt and Bern. We have not been able to say anything as nice about Stockholm."

The sharp remarks by Sen. Thomas was the day's top news in Stockholm.

The Swedish foreign office, after pondering the Senator's complaints for an hour, decided not to comment.

Dagens Nyheter, Sweden's biggest pro-American paper, said editorially there was "no excuse for this attack on our country. It called Thomas' remarks twaddling nonsense and said they did not deserve a factual reply. It continued:

"Anyone who declares Sweden 'has helped no one in the last 135 years' and that 'anyone with a military uniform on in that country is a spy' has condemned himself. x x x

"His threat that is Sweden is granted further money, it will be over his protests, might be taken with certain calm. Decisions taken so far by American authorities regarding aid to European countries bear witness, thank goodness, of quite different understanding and sense of responsibility from the one now demonstrated by Sen. Thomas."

Fire Companies Called

The fire companies were called to the residence of Charles Gamber, 1900 South Kentucky avenue, Saturday morning at 11:22 o'clock, where a roast was burning in the oven.

Other than the burnt roast, no damage resulted.

Declare Men
Are Anxious To Dig CoalOperators' Officer
States Lewis' is
'Destroying Jobs'

By Harold W. Ward

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP)—The coal operators said today that another strike Dec. 1 is "unthinkable." They counseled John L. Lewis that his own men are "willing and eager" to dig coal—and so are a lot of others.

Speaking up as the months-old deadlock with the United Mine Workers chief continued, John D. Battle, executive vice-president of the National Coal Association, charged that Lewis is "destroying the markets for coal, thereby destroying their jobs."

Lewis has not been willing to consider operators' proposals, and he has not presented any basis on which the industry could operate, Battle contended.

"Recent events furnish abundant evidence that the men are willing and eager to work at what they know are the highest wage rates of any workers in America," the statement said.

Quoting Lewis as saying he knows of no one who wants to be a coal miner except those now mining coal, Battle said this shows ignorance of conditions in the coal fields and added:

"The truth is that there are a large number of men today on the waiting lists at the coal mines seeking employment."

Lewis called a three-weeks breather in the walkout last Wednesday.

The overnight puncture of the big steel strike gave no hint of bringing peace in the coal tieup.

Government Goes Slow
Conciliation Director Cyrus S. Ching and White House advisers were considering over the weekend whether to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act. But the government was going slow, waiting to see whether Lewis could turn up anything in New York which would speed a settlement. Lewis was keeping quiet about who he was seeing there.

But it was reported that at least one important operator was planning to confer with Lewis here when the mine leader returns next week.

Lewis is squeezed into a tight corner by the operators' solid front. Their contract expired June 30.

The question now is: How will he extricate himself and his followers? He has been in tough spots before and always came out with a shiny new concession for his miners clutched in his hand. But this time it appears different. After six months of dicker-ing, Ching is of the opinion that the coal men and Lewis are farther apart than ever.

The personalities involved this year have a lot to do with the firm stand taken by the operators. Lewis, if he would talk about it, would surely admit that he misses such veteran operator-negotiators as Charles O'Neill of Pennsylvania and George F. Campbell of Illinois. Both died early this year. Both guided rough negotiations into contracts in the past.

But new and younger faces confront him across the bargaining table this year. And in six months he hasn't been able to stare them down. In the Southern Coal Producers Association talks at Bluefield, W. Va., his chief adversary has been Joseph E. Moody, an apt student of the industry and former labor relations counsel.

In the northern-western talks at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Lewis has had to deal with a calm and shrewd-eyed executive who heads the world's largest commercial coal firm. He is Geo. H. Love, president of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company.

All talks are in suspension.

Two Miners Die
In An Explosion

JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 12—(AP)—Two miners were killed in a premature dynamite explosion in the Federal Mining and Smelting company's big mine, at Duwag, just east of here this afternoon.

The two were Elmer Scott Brown, 36 years old, of Joplin, and Troy Martin, 31, living south of Granby, Mo.

Fellow miners said the two men had prepared a charge for blasting out lead and zinc ore at the 180-foot level, a quarter of a mile south of the mine shaft entrance. They were alone in that part of the mine at the time. Thirty-five miners also were underground but no more were hurt.

The victims' bodies were found some distance from the scene of the blast. Both were badly mangled.

Sedalians in
Auto AccidentInjured in Auto
And Truck Collision
South of Marshall

Two Sedalians, Otto Hancock, 1307 South Monticau avenue, and William W. Campbell, 1009 South Lamine avenue, were taken to the Fitzgibbon hospital in Marshall Saturday morning after being injured in an auto-truck collision about two miles south of Marshall.

According to Mrs. Britts B. Meredith, 922 West Third street, the following Sedalians were riding in the Campbell 1947 Ford five-passenger coupe that was involved in a collision with a Salline county road truck about 7:45 o'clock Saturday morning. Those in the Campbell car were: William W. Campbell, Otto Hancock, Britts Meredith, Charles Samuels, 1707 South Stewart avenue, and Harold Vogel, Fifteenth and Osage.

Mrs. Campbell reported that her husband has a shattered right knee cap and has facial and neck lacerations. He was reported resting well late Saturday afternoon.

Has Fractured Elbow
Hancock received a fractured right elbow and other cuts and bruises. He was reported improving. He was brought to Sedalia after emergency treatment to the Bothwell hospital.

Mrs. Meredith said that her husband suffered minor cuts and bruises and was brought to Sedalia in the Meredith family car. It was reported that he had several stitches taken in his chin and on his elbow.

Mrs. Meredith said that the five were on their way to work in Marshall. They are all bricklayers or carpenters, who were working on a new building for the state institution.

The car was reported to still be in Marshall and will be taken to Sedalia later. The entire front end of the Ford was smashed.

Mother Kills Child
Then Commits Suicide

WINNEMUCCA, Nev., Nov. 12—(AP)—The wife of a prominent Winnemucca physician shot and killed her two young sons and then committed suicide last night, Coroner Jack Heward reported today.

A third son, only two months old, was dragged by his mother and is in serious condition in a hospital here, the coroner said.

Chief of Police John Duarte said the body of Mrs. Helen Felder, about 35, wife of Dr. Lin Felder, was found in her bedroom about midnight. The baby lay nearby.

She apparently had inserted the muzzle of a .30 caliber rifle in her mouth and pulled the trigger, the officer said.

The body of John, 8, was found on a sofa in the living room, and the body of Lin, Jr., 10, was in a back bedroom. Both had been shot in the head.

Dr. Felder was in Battle Mountain, Nev., at the time on his customary call to attend patients there.

Heward said he would call an inquest next week. He said no motive is known but that Mrs. Felder had been ill with arthritis for several years.

She had been a nurse before her marriage.

Stamp To Honor Wright
Brothers on Flight Birthday

MANTEO, N. C., Nov. 12—(AP)—A letter bearing a six-cent air mail stamp, honoring the Wright brothers, will get jet-propelled delivery December 17 when the nation marks the 46th birthday of the birth of flight.

The first of the new stamps cancelled at Kitty Hawk on that day will be whisked off to Dayton, Ohio, birthplace of Orville and Wilbur Wright, at about 525 miles per hour aboard a jet plane. It will be a far cry from the first flight launched by the Wrights, said A. W. Drinkwater of Manteo—and he should know.

Two Injured in Highway Accident

An elderly couple of Carter, Mo., suffered injuries, following an automobile accident on highway 65, 12½ miles north of Sedalia, Friday afternoon about 2:15 o'clock.

Mrs. Harry T. Jones 67 years old, received a fractured collar bone, and her husband, 69 years old, suffered abrasions and bruises, after a 1939 Dodge coach they were riding in left the pavement and turned over on its side. They were taken to the Fitzgibbon hospital at Marshall.

Mrs. Jones, driver of the car, told Trooper Wayne Allman, that something went wrong with the car and she couldn't control it and they ran off the highway into a ditch.

The automobile was towed to Sedalia.

'Nothing to'
Report on Judges LifeJudge Medina Has Grand Time in His Visit to Princeton

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(AP)—New York police said tonight an investigation had showed there was "nothing to" a reported plot against the life of Federal Judge Harold R. Medina.

Two Brooklyn girls who were picked up during the probe were released later, they said.

"There is absolutely nothing to" a detective lieutenant said.

"We are convinced that these people have nothing to do with any plot against Judge Medina."

Acting "Like Big Shots"
A flurry of investigation started this evening when two young men told the FBI here that the two girls had said the judge would be "done away with sometime in the next few weeks."

Medina himself was skeptical about the whole thing, and after thorough questioning of the four young people police turned them all loose with a warning.

"They were just talking like big-shots," the detective said.

As soon as the FBI got the information, it called the New York Police Department and asked for a local investigation.

The Brooklyn officers took over immediately, and FBI agents were not directly involved, police said.

Police said the two girls, sisters, were Audrey Gordon, 17, a student at Abraham Lincoln high school, and Marlene Gordon, 18, a sales girl in a lingerie shop.

They live at Manhattan Beach. The informants were named by officers as Dennis Schuster, 24, (4356 Bedford Ave.) and Melvin Cohen, 23 (326 Neptune Ave.), both of Brooklyn.

After they were all taken to Brooklyn Precinct Station No. 60, officers said the following story came out:

Tell Glamorous Story
The young men met the girls recently and the men told them a glamorous story of a trip to China and $500,000 worth of loot they had collected. The men said part of the loot was stolen by a girl, and they asked the help of the two sisters in getting it back.

The girls said the young men told them they planned to turn it over to "the Chinese Communists" when they obtained it.

At this point the two men said the girls made the remark about Judge Medina and they felt it was their public duty to inform the FBI.

The identifications were made by acting Capt. William Kimmins of the 14th Detective District. He handled the case.

Guard Judge's Residence
When police first heard of the "plot," they immediately sent a patrolman and two detectives to guard the judge's Manhattan apartment.

During the nine-month Communist conspiracy trial, over which Medina presided, he regularly was guarded after receiving a flood of abusive mail in the early days of the trial.

After the 11 Communist defendants were convicted, the judge fined them each $10,000 and gave them prison sentences up to five years.

Annual C. of
C. Banquet on Monday NightDr. McFarland, Noted Speaker, to Give Address

The banquet committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ike Warren is busy finishing up the many final details for the largest mass membership meeting in the history of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce to be held at the new Sacred Heart auditorium, Third and Vermont, Monday, 6:30 p. m., November 14th.

Dr. Kenneth McFarland of Topeka, Kansas, internationally famous speaker, will deliver the principal address to the group in attendance. Dr. McFarland, Superintendent of Public Schools at Topeka, Kas., in addition to his duties there, has conducted courtesy, public relations, and salesmanship for General Motors, TWA, Reader's Digest, and many other large corporations. Because of the large number of speaking engagements, it is necessary for him to schedule most of his transportation by air in order to conserve time.

There is hardly a person who had the opportunity to hear Dr. McFarland last year at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet who will not be in attendance at this year's meeting.

The tantalizing and delectable menu which has everyone talking includes: roast U. S. choice beef steer, roast Missouri turkey, baked ham, assorted cold cuts and cheese, canapés, shrimp, lobster, caviar, chopped chicken livers, celery, radishes, green onions, hot potato salad, cold potato salad, baked beans, shrimp salad, lobster salad, vienna bread, pumpernickel bread, molded salad, and coffee. This without a doubt is a menu which will fit everyone's taste, says Fred Burger of Hotel Bothwell who is catering the banquet.

Entertainment throughout the dinner will be given by the Business and Professional Women's Striver Trio—Mrs. Nellie Monegan, Mrs. Mona Wilson, and Mrs. Donald Donath.

R. M. Overstreet Toastmaster
R. M. Overstreet, now immediate Past-President of the Chamber of Commerce, will act as toastmaster until the latter part of the evening at which time he will install the new President, Noel T. Twest, who in turn will then present the executive board and the directors.

Decorations of the banquet hall are through the courtesy of Pfeiffer's Floral Shop, the public address system by Riley Sound Systems, reservation signs by Midwest Auto Store and Les Hale, piano by Shaw Music Company, head table platform by Home Lumber Company, tarpaulins by the Missouri State Fair, and stand and cashiers by Nu Phi Mu Sorority, and the ice decorations through the courtesy of Sedalia Ice and Cold Storage Company.

Luxury Cruise
Boat Has Wreck

ACAPULCO, Mexico, Nov. 12—(AP)—"Corsair," once the $3,000,000 yacht of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, had a midnight harbor shipwreck here with 46 passengers aboard.

There were no casualties and no panic but the luxury cruise boat is beached with a long tear below the water line on her port (left) side.

The passengers, few of whom had gone to bed, were taken off in life boats to the beach a few hundred yards away. The 82 officers and men of the crew sheltered the passengers to their boat stations, helped them on with life preservers and lowered the boats quickly to the calm bay water in bright moonlight.

Capt. of the Port Pena Alfaro, who gave the ship clearance at her dock, said the steering mechanism apparently failed.

The Pacific Cruise Lines operates the Corsair for Skinner and Eddy of Seattle, the owners.

Guest Speaker

Monday evening, Nov. 14, at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Dr. Kenneth McFarland, of Topeka, Kas. will give the address at Sacred Heart school auditorium.

Open Doors
For Atomic
InspectionVishinsky Tells U. N.,
Such Energy in Peaceful Uses

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 12—(AP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky asserted today the Soviet Union offered two years ago to open wide its doors to international atomic control and inspection—and the offer still stands.

The Soviet foreign minister firmly told the special political committee of the U. N. Assembly, however, that Russia never would give up one bit of its oil to ownership by any international commission.

He said also, in a wrap-up speech on the atomic question for the Soviet Union, that Russian requirements for atomic energy are "tremendous, and they are growing."

"We endeavor," he continued, "to meet these requirements, we use our atomic energy for peaceful purposes."

He said that large scale explosive work is taking place in the Soviet Union.

Assistant Secretary of State John D. Hickerson told the committee yesterday that the United States is sending isotopes, radioactive tracer elements for research, to some 30 countries. He asked, what are the Russians doing.

"Blowing Up Things"
Vishinsky said that was all right "but the fact is that we are using atomic energy for large scale explosive projects, blowing up things."

"Blowing up what?" he asked. "Pieces of rock. After all, we are not going to just shake the air. That would be economically unprofitable. Although there have been cases in history where atomic bombs shook the air rather than good to mankind, and in addition to shaking the air they killed scores of thousands of persons without any need, militarily speaking, from the point of view of prosecuting the war or from the point of anybody's war aims."

The verbatim record of the Vishinsky speech Thursday records him as saying: "We are razing mountains, we are irrigating deserts, we are cutting through the jungle and the tundra we are spreading life, happiness, prosperity and welfare in places where the human footstep has not been seen for thousands of years."

Vishinsky said statements had been ascribed to him about moving mountains with the help of atomic energy. He said someone perhaps thought of a report in a German paper but that he had talked of blowing up mountains, razing them.

Not Answer Argument
After the committee adjourned, Hickerson told correspondents that he stood on his statement yesterday that Vishinsky's "wild language" did not answer one argument.

"He appears to be willing to limit his claim about moving mountains," Hickerson said. "He now says he merely levels mountains. I said yesterday that if a country has a device that will level mountains, it has in its possession a device that will level cities. He did not answer that. He indicated some willingness to limit his claim of mountain moving but he did not indicate willingness to limit the unimpairment of exercise of sovereignty no matter what the requires of world security might be."

The special committee will vote Monday on several proposals. Indications now are the committee will favor a Canadian plan for the Big Five and Canada to continue secret talks on the atom.

Steel To Be At Top
OutputStrike of 42
Days at Cost of Near a Billion Dollars Over

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12—(AP)—Back to work parades of cheering thousands today put America's economic lifeline—steel—back in business after a 42-day strike costing nearly a billion dollars.

Smoke belled from mill stacks across the country. Workers celebrated and then geared the giant industry for top production early in the week ahead.

The jubilant CIO United Steelworkers who won their insurance and pensions started sweeping scattered holdout firms into the contract fold. Fewer than 100,000 are still idle out of the more than 500,000 who struck October 1.

But for all intents and purposes, the strike ended with capitulation of the mammoth United States Steel corporation, the world's largest steelmaker.

All top producers now are signed. Even the government said there is no steel crisis any more since production quickly goes back to near normal.

Few Unsigned
Some of the little fellows have not signed. But union president Philip Murray predicts 90 per cent of the industry will be under contract by Monday.

Contract talks went on everywhere. In Pittsburgh, the union signed two midwestern iron mining firms—Ogelsby Norton company and M. A. Hanna company, employing 4,400.

Wedding Friday for Veep And Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley

By Tom Yarbrough

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 12—(P)—"I'll be pacing the floor until that day," said Vice President Alben W. Barkley, with a spark in his eye, just like any other man about to be married.

A stalwart, immaculate figure in blue, he was standing in his hotel suite. Sitting near, full of life, was Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, his handsome brunette fiancée. They were about to announce further details of their wedding plans.

She had told of the engagement just two nights before, thereby settling a question which had been abroad in the land for some four months.

"That day" that Mr. Barkley referred to is next Friday, when the vice president, approaching his 72nd birthday, and Mrs. Hadley 38, will walk down to the altar of the Methodist chapel and be married, each for the second time, in the simplest, quietest ceremony in the book.

Bishop Holt Officiate
Bishop Ivan Lee Holt is to pronounce the words in the chapel of St. John's Methodist church, a large one in the west end of St. Louis, at 11 a. m. (Central Standard Time) in the presence of none but the immediate families and a restricted number of reporters, but no photographers.

This will be the culmination of a romance carried on, as Barkley once said, "in a goldfish bowl." It started last July, in Washington, when she was there on her vacation. As it developed, with a quickening pace, their best-made plans for privacy wound up in fairly full publicity.

Trips Very Frequent
Barkley made the most of the publicity. Mrs. Hadley made the best of it. He kept telling his audiences, far and wide, that he didn't know whether he would "make the grade." She kept saying "no comment." He kept turning up in St. Louis, always by plane, and she gave him each time a good welcome, trying to keep any and all to-do at a minimum.

She went right on working at her job, secretary to the general counsel of the Wabash railroad. Her husband was the chief Wabash attorney when he died in February, 1945, of a heart attack. They had been married 14 years, and had two daughters.

Barkley's wife died in 1947, also of heart disease, after 44 years of marriage. After that, one of their daughters, Mrs. Max O. Truitt, became his Washington hostess.

Beneath his fine humor, and his seemingly boundless fund of quips and stories, some people thought they could detect a deep loneliness as he made the rounds of a very active social schedule and hopped around the country as the busiest and perhaps best known vice president the United States has ever had.

He was much in demand as a guest, and he had a courtly, gallant appreciation of womankind's charms—but there was no hint of romance.

Not until last July, when Jane Hadley visited Washington as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clark M. Clifford, Clifford is special counsel to the president.

On a little trip down the Potomac the night of July 8, Mrs. Hadley's first night in the capital, they met. "This is something different," the vice president is reported to have decided, the fascinating like of which he had not seen before. He told her—the story goes—that she must have had a wonderful power of resistance to have remained single until then.

Intended to Be Lawyer

Mrs. Hadley, who still likes to think of herself as a "plain mid-western girl with a prosaic background," also had traveled well in St. Louis social circles but, so far as her friends could tell, never had seriously considered another marriage.

Carleton Hadley and Clark Clifford had worked together on the annual musical revues at Washington university here, Hadley writing the words and Clifford directing. Hadley was a wit, a good mimic, and so was his wife. Intending to become a lawyer, she quit after her first year at Washington to be married.

Her father, a lawyer, now lives at Kansas City. Her mother, a professional pianist, plans to keep her daughter's apartment here. Jane was born in the small Missouri town of Keyesville. When she was ten years old the family moved to Sedalia, Mo., where she went to high school.

A friend points to these as some of her more important characteristics: an effervescent vivacity and love of life, warmth of personality, abiding kindness and unselfishness, and an ability to fit in anywhere, whatever the occasion calls for.

Just Needed Rest

She's energetic, to be sure, but whether she can keep pace with the Veep is something to be seen. Four days after she announced her engagement she went into a hospital for a week with a touch of flu, but her mother said the thing she needed, as much as treatment, was rest. Doorbells and telephones had worn her down.

It is not too unusual for Barkley to preside over the Senate in the morning, leave Washington for luncheon speech, fly on west of the Mississippi for a dinner speech, and head back to Washington for a full schedule the next day.

Barkley, taking in full stride the designation "Grandfather of the Year" by an organization of grandmothers and grandfathers in Chicago, never tired to back away from his role of a man in love. Over and over he acknowledged, with thanks, that he'd never had so many people pulling for him.

Late in September he told a St. Louis audience: "Without intending to do it, one of your lovely ladies has driven the Duchesses of Windsor and Rita Hayworth off the front page." He had kept himself on it all along, but marital speculation boomed the interest in him to a magnitude seldom enjoyed by a mere vice president.

On becoming vice president he told a story about a farmer who had two sons. "One of them went to sea, and the other became vice president of the United States. Neither was ever heard of again." He said the vice presidency was "a cold biscuit"—and proceeded to prove it needn't be.

And so, next Friday is "that day." Barkley and Mrs. Hadley have said they want it to be as quiet and simple as possible, but with so many eyes on them they can't be sure that quietness and simplicity will be very possible.

Phelps of Trenton, Nebr., as he and Mrs. Phelps, 95, celebrated their 77th wedding anniversary quietly in their son's home. The couple decided Mrs. Phelps must be "boss." "She gives the orders," her husband said. Friends believe their marriage may be the longest on record. (NEA TELEPHOTO)

Aluminum Is Willing To Start Negotiations

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12—(P)—Government Friday tried to get the million-member CIO United Steelworkers of America and the nation's biggest aluminum maker to resume negotiations.

The Aluminum Company of America said it was willing. The union declined to comment.

An Alcoa spokesman said the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service contacted both the company and the union in an effort to reestablish bargaining talks which broke off in mid-October.

Negotiations halted, the company spokesman said, when the steelworkers rejected a company offer. Alcoa said it was willing to agree to the insurance and pension plan recommended by the President's fact finding board if the union would agree to an additional provision.

The company said it asked for provision to re-examine and negotiate adjustments in the agreement if social security benefits and costs increased in the future.

Brazil's Rubber Production Low
RIO DE JANEIRO—(P)—Production of natural rubber for the first six months of this year ran about 1,856 tons. It may not go over 4,000 for the entire year.

Official figures bounce up and down violently. A total of 4,000 would be just about a record low.

Last year it was 5,446 tons, after a dizzy dive from 14,510 in 1947.

Record high in 22 years came in 1944 with 21,192. In 1905 rubber was second only to coffee as Brazil's leading export product.

The United States and, a long stretch behind, England, France and Germany are the main buyers of this year's crop.

Central Missouri State Teachers College.

After graduating from college he taught and coached for a time at the Savannah, Mo., high school.

He came to Sedalia in September of 1919 with the Shryack-Wright Grocery Co., and traveled on the road for several years later going into the office where he was in charge. He retired from that work about a year ago.

His second wife, Mrs. Hilda Marie Harrison died January 8, 1949.

Daughter at Columbia

Mr. Harrison is survived by his daughter, Mrs. C. W. Holcomb, by a previous marriage, and grandson, Kelly Holcomb. Also surviving is his brother, Don Harrison, Versailles, Mo., two aunts Mrs. Maude Harrison of Warrensburg and Mrs. Lou Arnold of Moberly. His daughter accompanied by Mr. Halcorb, a member of the University faculty and son, came to Sedalia upon learning of her father's death.

Mr. Harrison is a former secretary of the United Commercial Travelers, Sedalia Council, and was active in the statewide affairs of the organization. He was also a member of the Granite Lodge A. F. and A. M. 272, Ararat Temple of Shrine, Kansas City, of the Sedalia Shrine Club and the Sedalia Scottish Rite Club.

Mr. Harrison was said to have been the last living member of the original "W" Club members of the Central Missouri State College.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed pending word from his brother, who it is reported left Versailles this past week-end on a vacation. Efforts to locate him are being made through the State Highway Patrol.

Talks Given on Social Security

The Sedalia Life Underwriters had their monthly meeting at the Hotel Bothwell Saturday morning at 8:15 o'clock. Abe Silverman, president of the organization, presided. In the business meeting, L. J. Brown was elected national committee representative for the Sedalia Underwriters. He takes the place of Virgil Ragar, whose term has expired.

Marvin J. Elser, program chairman for the month, presented William Wagner, supervisor of Field Training from the Metropolitan Home Office. Mr. Wagner's speech concerned "Life Insurance and Social Security." He stressed the importance of coordinating the two in planning the security of families and providing a livable income at retirement age. Social Security today does give a foundation which people may build their families security by supplementing it with life insurance. People entitled to Social Security should and can receive advice on their benefits through life insurance representatives since life insurance companies are service institutions.

Some very fine points along in this same theme were brought out by Mr. Scott Weber, the local director of Social Security. He had just recently returned from a conference in Des Moines in which field managers and top officials were permitted to study the makeup of the bill H. R. 6000 recently passed by the House of Representatives to amend the Social Security Act.

Mr. Weber gave a detailed account of the principal proceedings of the convention and also injected salient points as to provisions in many of the activities that are covered in social security. Particularly did he stress benefits, disabilities and other features covered under the social security act.

The wedding will take place on Christmas day at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the Methodist church. The Rev. G. W. Ragsdale, father of the groom, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. G. W. Heslar, pastor of the California church.

The dinner table was centered with a miniature bride and bridegroom under an arch of red roses and candelabra of white tapers. The announcement was made on gold match folders printed in red and napkins with the names of the prospective bride and groom printed in gold.

Joplin Wins Debate Meet

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. Nov. 12.—(P)—For the second year in a row, Joplin high school won the annual Springfield high school invitational debate tournament today. Twenty-one teams participated.

The Smith-Cotton high school debate squad returned Saturday afternoon from a two day debate tournament in Springfield. This tourney based on the national high school debate proposition, resolved: That the President of the United States should be elected by a direct vote of the people, was sponsored by the Senior high school debating society in Springfield.

The group that went won four debates out of a possible twelve, but Miss Anna L. Swaford, the Smith-Cotton coach, considers this one of the best practises for her team.

The Smith-Cotton debate squad will hold a debate with St. Paul's Lutheran boys' school, this Friday, to which the public is invited. The debate will be held in Sedalia.

Bowl Game at CMSC, Nov. 21

The first annual "Grandstand Bowl" football game will be played November 21st, on the Central Missouri State field. Kickoff time is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. The two opposing squads, the Reds and the Whites, will consist of men who were not listed on the Mules varsity roster.

Sponsored by the "W" Club, the game will be the first of the 1949 college post-season classics and probably no other bowl fued in the nation will be played for more important reason. The first and foremost reason behind the game is to uncover new talent for next year's varsity squad. It is no longer a secret that many former high school and junior college star athletes failed to report to Coach Tate Page at the start of the current football season. It is expected that several of these prospects will take part in the "Grandstand Bowl" game.

Football may take a new hold on the student body of CMSC since the game will permit the "all-American" grandstand quarterbacks to actually operate a grid machine. The "I told you so boys" and the second guessers, who annually plague the varsity coach, will find the "Grandstand Bowl" game an excellent opportunity to present their skills on a regulation football field instead of the floor of the student lounge or the local coke den. The idea may in time spread to all parts of the nation and prove educational to followers of football.

Millers Play Mohawks in Kansas City

Previous Hockey Meet Ended With A 5-5 Draw

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12.—One of the standout teams in the U.S. Hockey League—the Minneapolis Millers—will make their second appearance here Sunday night against the Kansas City Mohawks for a match which will start at 8:15 o'clock in the Pla-Mor arena, 3127 Wyandotte street.

Minneapolis has George Agar, the highest scorer in the loop to date, and some rookies who are performing brilliantly for the Millers. Agar won the scoring championship two seasons ago and threatens to repeat for the title this season. Agar is one of the slickest stick-handlers in the U.S. loop and a great "feeder." The Millers also have big burly Harvey McQuestion, a goalie who has been cutting down the opposition. These two clubs battled to a 5-5 draw here in their previous meeting, but the Millers hold two decisions, 3-2 and 5-4, over the Mohawks and the Bladenmen will be seeking revenge for those 1-goal losses.

New Entry

The Louisville Blades, new entry in the loop, will make their first appearance in the arena Wednesday night, November 16th. The Blades fired in six goals in a recent match in the Derby City to thump the Mohawks, 7 to 5. Those tallies came in the final period after it appeared that the Kansas City crew would be a cinch winner.

Goalie Jim Henry continues to flash brilliantly for Player-Coach Hank Blade's team. Henry has the appearance of an adagio dancer on skates and fans marvel at the manner in which he moves so swiftly to make a save. Watching Henry is worth the price of admission. Sugar Jim, so named because he is "sweet" in front of the nets, is one of the most popular players on the club.

Young Rookie

Fans also will thrill at the pay of Bobby Goodacre (a rookie, who is not even of voting age. Goodacre is speedy on the Bades and he has the knack of making rival goalies look silly when he gets control of the puck. The match with Louisville will be a real grudge affair.

Ray Powell and George Burke engaged in a fast fight in Louisville with the former receiving a broken nose. Burke is plenty fast with his dukes and fans will watch with interest when these two pucksters are on the ice. In addition to the broken nose, Powell's two eyes were as black as midnight.

Reports Car Stolen Later Found Burned

Car Burned On The Beaman Road, Field Also Set On Fire

Mrs. Robert Carver of 504 West Twenty-second street had an exciting afternoon Friday. She reported her car as stolen and within an hour received word that it had been found—completely destroyed by fire.

Mrs. Carver told a Democrat-Capital reporter that her husband had left the family car in the Fifth street and Engineer avenue vicinity so that she might have access to it later in the afternoon. Mrs. Carver was visiting with her mother, Mrs. Mary Conner, 306 South Summit avenue.

Found Few Minutes Later

Mrs. Carver said she went to get the car about 3:00 o'clock and it was missing. She then called the police and gave them a description and the license number. "I had to go to my home to get the motor number and I called them (the police) as soon as I got there," she said.

When Mrs. Carver called the police the second time she was told that a burned 1934 Plymouth, had been found five miles north of Sedalia on the Beaman road.

Mrs. Carver said her husband went to the scene where the car was found in Chamberlin's wreck-er and she in a friends car. The car was reported to have been sitting on the left side of the road and a field adjoining the road was set afire by flames or sparks from the burning automobile.

The car was brought to Sedalia by Chamberlin's. It was covered by insurance.

Death Penalty For Slayer Of Pensioner

HILLSBORO, O., Nov. 12.—(P)—Cecil Yankey, who wasn't satisfied with a life term for the slaying of an old age pensioner, ended today with a mandatory death penalty.

A highland county jury found the 41-year-old Hillsboro man guilty of first degree murder in the slaying of 71-year-old Leroy Woodland.

The jury did not recommend mercy. That makes the death penalty mandatory in Ohio.

Yankey pleaded guilty in his first trial for the slaying of Woodland March 20, 1947, during a robbery. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

After he had served two and a half years in Ohio penitentiary, Yankey challenged the validity of his sentence because it was handed down by a one-judge court, instead of by a jury or a three-judge panel.

The courts upheld contention of his counsel, Miss Cecile Shapiro, that the sentence was illegal. But, they overruled her contention that Yankey couldn't be made to face the trial again on the same charge.

In the second trial, ended today, a jury of eight men and four women stayed out three hours before reporting to the court.

CIO, UWA To Demand Union Shop At GMC

DETROIT, Nov. 12.—(P)—The CIO United Auto Workers will demand a union shop at General Motors Corp. in 1950 talks.

This decision was taken Friday at the final session of the UAW General Motors Policy Council made up of delegates from all over the country.

A union shop contract for General Motors' 265,000 workers within UAW jurisdiction would require that all be union members. New employees would have to join the UAW within 30 days after being hired.

The UAW now has a union shop contract covering Ford Motor Co.'s 115,000 production workers.

Some May Find Money Deducted

Several veterans in the Sedalia area who owe the government money as the result of overpayments on subsistence allowances or other veterans' benefits may find all or part of their share of the forthcoming special dividend payment on National Service Life Insurance deducted to cover the debt.

In Western Missouri and North-eastern Kansas 6,266 veterans are indebted to the government in an amount in excess of $600,000, the VA regional office in Kansas City has made known.

Veterans concerned are aware of their indebtedness to the government and know that it is deductible from other VA payments to which they may be entitled. W. F. Fidler, Jr., of the local VA office said.

Indebtedness to the Government may come about as a result of overpayment in subsistence allowance, pension, compensation, readjustment allowances and losses made good to lenders on defaulted GI loans.

Many veterans are now repaying their indebtedness by having deductions made from their monthly checks. When the overpayment is wiped out, as it may be by the dividend deductions, there will be no further monthly withholding, Fidler said.

Part Of Loan To K-F To Pay Other Loans

$16 Million To Pay Loans To Private Banks And Others

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(P)—Kaiser-Frazer Corp., said tonight it got collateral for a $44,400,000 Reconstruction Finance Corp., loan by using part of the loan itself.

"K-F has complied with all RFC requirements," said a statement by the company's president, Edgar F. Kaiser.

The Kaiser statement followed an assertion by Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland financier, that $16,000,000 of the RFC business expansion loan was to be used to pay off loans to private banks, the Bank of America in California and the Mellon National Bank in Pittsburgh.

Explains Requirements

Among the RFC requirements, Kaiser stated, "was the necessity to give mortgages to the RFC on its property."

"To do this Kaiser-Frazer has had to pay off the bank loans, in order to release mortgages held by them as collateral."

"A part of this loan payment (the statement did not say how much) was from funds received under the RFC loan, and the remainder from other funds that Kaiser-Frazer had on hand."

"Kaiser-Frazer is operating strictly in accordance with the RFC resolution which imposed extremely rigid guarantees on the Kaiser interests as well as on all the assets of Kaiser-Frazer."

The RFC, in its announcement of the loan, had said that $12,000,000 of the funds were for Kaiser-Frazer "working capital," with the remainder to be used to tool up for producing new models, including a new low cost car.

RFC officials who were asked about Eaton's statement, made in testimony before a House sub-committee yesterday, said the K-F agreement had not specified that bank loans would have to be paid off.

The RFC, in advancing the fund, called for posting capital assets as security. If this collateral was security for previous loans, they would have to be paid off before they could be posted with the RFC.

Eaton declared that only some $4,500,000 of the RFC loan would be put into designing low-priced cars.

Suit Against Otis and Co.

Kaiser, noting that Kaiser-Frazer has a suit pending against Otis & Co., in which Eaton is principal stockholder, said that "many questions are being asked about details of Kaiser-Frazer business" and "it appears that these are inspired by Cyrus Eaton."

He said that these questions "concern use of funds, whether

Kaiser-Frazer filed suit against Otis & Co., Cleveland investment firm, over collapse of a deal for underwriting a K-F stock offering in 1948.

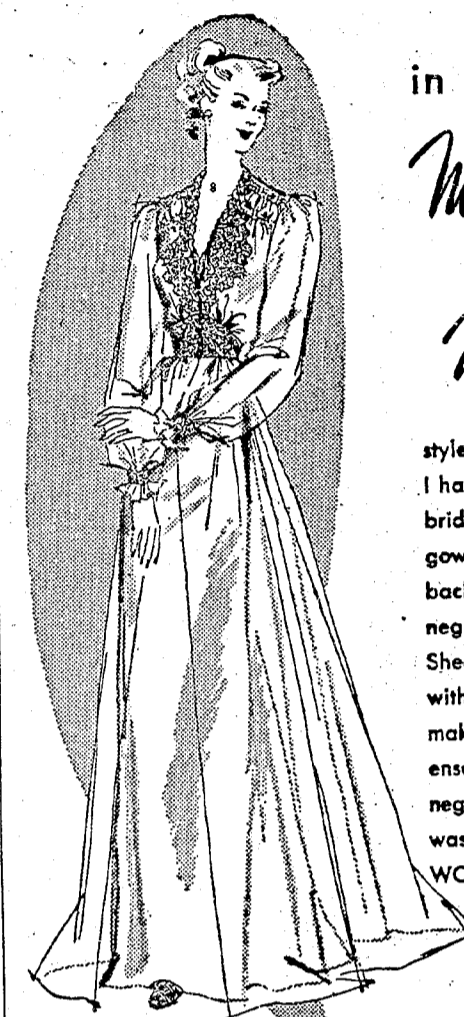

The Kaiser statement added: "We are building cars in two price classes now and will build cars in three price classes by entering the low priced field as well."

"The interests of 40,000 stockholders of Kaiser-Frazer and 4,000 dealers will best be served by ignoring the selfish interest of Otis & Co."

A biography of Dr. J. E. Cannaday is included in the recent publication of "Who's Who in the Midwest."

The aim of the book is to include not necessarily the best but rather the best known men and women in central and midwestern states in all lines of useful and reputable achievements. This Standard American Selective Biographical References is published by the A. N. Marquis company and has been published in volumes listing the best known people in their particular part of the country in a volume of that section.

The names are listed in two classes. Class one, those of special prominence in credial, lines of effort making their subject of work of interest, inquiry or discussion. Those prominent in some special field. Class two, are those included arbitrarily because of official position, civil, military, naval.

The book classifies him as a dermatologist giving his birthplace as Raymond, Ill., and listing him as an M. D., graduate of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., an O. P. H. D., McCormick Optical college.

His immediate family connections are given and reference is made to his having been a school teacher at Greenfield, Ill., in 1893, and a practicing physician and dermatologist at Sedalia since 1902.

Mrs. Blanche Farris, secretary for the group, were in charge of the various phases. At the beginning of the meeting, Mrs. A. A. Studebaker gave a resume of First Aid.

A water safety meeting was held at chapter headquarters Saturday afternoon with instructors and P. A. Sillers in attendance. Plans were made for a water program, and opening of the pools.

Style Guide for today's woman

By Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

It is wise to start planning for a new pastel suit now. Towards the end of this month the very early spring suits will begin to arrive. Having just returned from market, I want you to know the new suits and dresses are something to really plan for. Fine gabardines and militeans will be the fabrics most popular in suits, making their appearance. Navy, red, grey, green and dasha will be your important colors. Loose jackets and fitted ones... some with belts but each one a thoroughbred in style and quality. A new suit will give your entire wardrobe a lift to say nothing of what it will do for you.

Mayor Dislikes His Job

ABERDEEN, Idaho.—(P)—The mayor of this potato town of 1,500 people doesn't like the job—he'd rather farm. Keeping pigs out is one of the troubles of Mayor James Chapman, 58. It's against the law to raise 'em in town.

"This stuff of telling people what to do isn't in my line," Chapman said. "I'm not cut out to have all that power." But Aberdeen, where there are more churches than filling stations, insisted that Chapman take a second two-year term. He said "people just figured I'd be able to devote more time to the mayor's job than anyone else." His salary is $75 a year.

Says Blue Serge Aids Integrity

TORQUAY, England.—(P)—What the world needs to revive its sense of integrity is a return to the old fashioned blue serge Sunday suit. That's what George Quenby of Liverpool told the meeting of the National Federation of Merchant Tailors here.

"When I entered the trade 40 years ago," he said, "every man had a Sunday suit of good blue serge. He wore it to church and when he visited friends. It gave him a sense of responsibility that men haven't got today."

Makes Baked Bouquets

LOS ANGELES.—(P)—Mrs. Mae DeLano slow-bakes her bouquets. The flowers last longer that way.

Here's her recipe for a baked bouquet, suitable for framing: Cut flowers (preferably flat types), leaves and lacey ferns. Place in an oven dish, cover with clean white sand, and bake for 10 hours in a low oven. After baking, Mrs. DeLano removes the posies, cleans them with a camel's hair brush, and arranges them on a flat backing. She fixes them in position with transparent glue.

Then she carefully clamps a glass, airtight frame over the design and behold—a beautiful picture, painted in nature's own colors. Mrs. DeLano cautions imitators not to underbake. The blooms wither under the glass. And don't overbake. The colors fade or turn brown.

Student Daily Editor Killed

Jack T. McKeown Slain by Ohio U., 'Frat' Brother

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12—(AP)—The managing editor of Ohio State university's student daily was shot and killed early today by a fraternity brother.

The shooting followed a cocktail party and dance of Delta Tau Delta fraternity, celebrating homecoming, members said.

University regulations forbid intoxicating liquor in fraternity houses.
Dr. Howard L. Bevis, university president, described the slaying as "a tragically regrettable incident." A "full investigation" was ordered.

Jack T. McKeown, a 21-year-old senior, was shot once with a .45 caliber automatic pistol on the Delta Tau Delta house lawn at 2:30 a. m.

McKeown, who died a few minutes later in University hospital, was trying to take the pistol from James D. Heer, 20, a freshman veterinary student and an ex-marine.

Heer dashed away in a taxicab, then surrendered to police peacefully, five miles from the fraternity house. He admitted the shooting, said Detective Kenneth Anderson, and remarked: "When I get drunk, I get trigger-happy."

McKeown lived in Norwood, a suburb of Cincinnati. Heer, a former marine, lives in Euclid, a Cleveland suburb.

Gloom On Homecoming
The death of the Ohio State Lantern editor cast a pall over the annual homecoming festivities on the campus, where an estimated 82,000 persons gathered today to watch the school's football team play Illinois.

While three detectives went through the Delta Tau Delta house, questioning members, the fraternity cancelled the remainder of its homecoming program, including an open house for parents.

"We are pretty well broken up over this," a spokesman said.
Heer, still attired in the tuxedo which he wore to the fraternity dance, was confined at police headquarters. Even his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Heer, were not permitted to see him immediately.

Joyce Crafton, 22, of Cleveland, Heer's "date" at the dance, was taken into custody as a material witness; then released on $300 bond. She is not an O.S.U. student.

Argued During Evening
Fraternity brothers said that Heer apparently "went berserk" after escorting Miss Crafton to the home of an aunt. They had argued during the evening, students said.

Heer took the pistol from the room of Richard Moore, 20, of Portsmouth, O., another fraternity brother.
Moore related that he saw Heer standing in the doorway with the pistol in his hands.

"Several other members—I think about ten of them," Moore said, "were gathered around Heer. They were apparently trying to talk Heer out of the gun."

"I walked up to Heer and was going to take the gun away from him, but Heer turned and ran out of the house and down the street."

Will Address Scottish Rites

George H. Miller will address the Scottish Rite Club meeting, Wednesday, November 16th at 6:30 at Dan's Pioneer Room, 121 1/2 South Ohio avenue.

The evening will in addition to the address by Mr. Miller have a movie which will complete a well rounded out evening of entertainment for the members and wives. A most enjoyable time is anticipated for the club members.

This is one of a series to be held during the remaining of this year and 1950.

A repast of oysters and suitable side dishes will be served before the speaking program.

Robert G. Hogan
On Honor List
Robert G. Hogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Sullivan, 1106 South Massachusetts avenue has been placed on the Missouri university honor rank list for 1948-1949 according to a message received by his parents from Elmer Ellis, Dean of Arts and Sciences at the university.

It was necessary for Hogan to rank in the upper 15 percent of the students to receive this honor. The grades for the past year were compiled and students were ranked accordingly.

Hogan will be honored at the University Honor convocation later in the year.
He graduated from Smith-Cotton high school with the class of 1948.

Chicken Dinner for Past Noble Grands
The Past Noble Grands of Loyal Rebekah lodge held the regular monthly meeting on Friday, November 11 at the home of Mrs. Ira Barnes of 909 West Tenth street.

A chicken dinner to which all contributed was served at noon with service for 24. It being guest month, there were six visitors. The acting noble grand and acting vice-grand were special guests. They are: Mrs. Fred Antion, Jr., and Mrs. Earl Edwards, also a visitor from Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Rebecca Reynart.

A musical program in keeping with Armistice Day was presented with Mrs. Della Gasperson as leader, which was followed by reading of several poems.
Plans were completed for the Christmas party for December meeting. Mrs. Barnes was assisted by Mrs. Olive Bush and Mrs. George Starkey.

Playlet at the C. C. Hubbard Assembly
The regular C. C. Hubbard assembly was held Thursday morning at 9:00 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Members of the eighth grade had charge of the program. They presented a playlet titled "The Meaning of Armistice Day" after which Dr. W. H. Madison, a physician and surgeon of Marshall delivered a very timely address.

Dr. Madison chose for his subject "The Man in The Mirror."

Granted Liquor License
A package liquor license was approved by the county court and issued to LeRoy James, doing business at 209 West Main street. The license was issued Saturday, and is to expire, August 18, 1950.

Decided upon, Hoffman said, "because Heer threatened others that time."

Russia Takes Bold Step Into A New Field

Propaganda Drive Theme, Russia Is Champion Of Peace

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Moscow's peace propaganda offensive has taken a bold step into a new field. But the venture does not stand up well under critical examination, unless Russian scientists know far more than those in the United States know, or have told.

For months the Russian propaganda drive has centered about the theme that the Soviet Union alone among the big powers, is the champion of world peace.

Alone Using Atomic Energy Now, with general acceptance of the report that the Soviet Union has an atom bomb, the pattern has developed further. It pictures Russian alone among the big powers, as using energy strictly for peacetime projects.

Unless the Russians have a much vaster knowledge of atomic energy and its uses than any scientists in the west, the latest Russian pronouncements on the atom—from Lake Success, from East Germany and from Moscow—must be looked upon primarily as a propaganda maneuver.

As propaganda, the Communist pronouncements fall into the familiar, logical pattern.

The keynote first was sounded last week in the Communist-controlled press of Eastern Germany. The story was that the Soviet Union was blasting away mountains and diverting rivers and creating a great channel where once there was nothing but waste land.

This was picked up and elaborated upon before the United Nations at Lake Success by Soviet Foreign Minister A. Y. Vishinsky. Russia, he said, uses the power of the atom to move mountains, to irrigate deserts, to cut through jungle and Arctic wastes, to spread happiness and prosperity.

It may be significant that Vishinsky's speech was an unscheduled one. It might have been the result of a sudden decision—or a sudden word from Moscow. It also may be significant that Vishinsky, when asked by reporters to tell where the Soviet Union was making this use of atomic energy, replied:

"I can't say, because I am not informed. I only know about it in a general way."

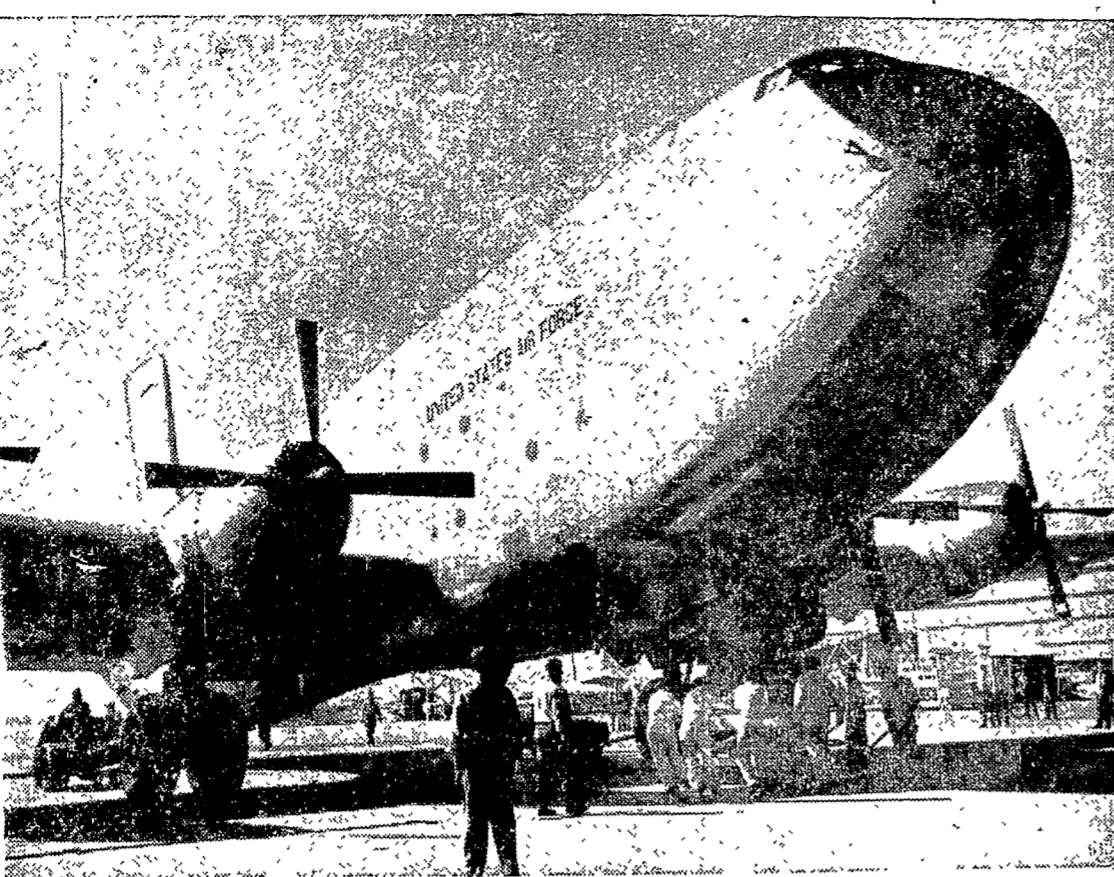

To Advance Mankind Even while he spoke these words, Pravda, the Soviet Communist party paper and bellwether of the Communist press throughout the world, expressed the same theme: Russia is using atomic power to advance mankind, while the west is using it for international power politics.

This is the way Soviet propaganda campaigns develop: The keynote and then the choruses throughout the Communist propaganda channels of the world.

Let's examine the statements of the Soviet Foreign Minister and the Communist press:

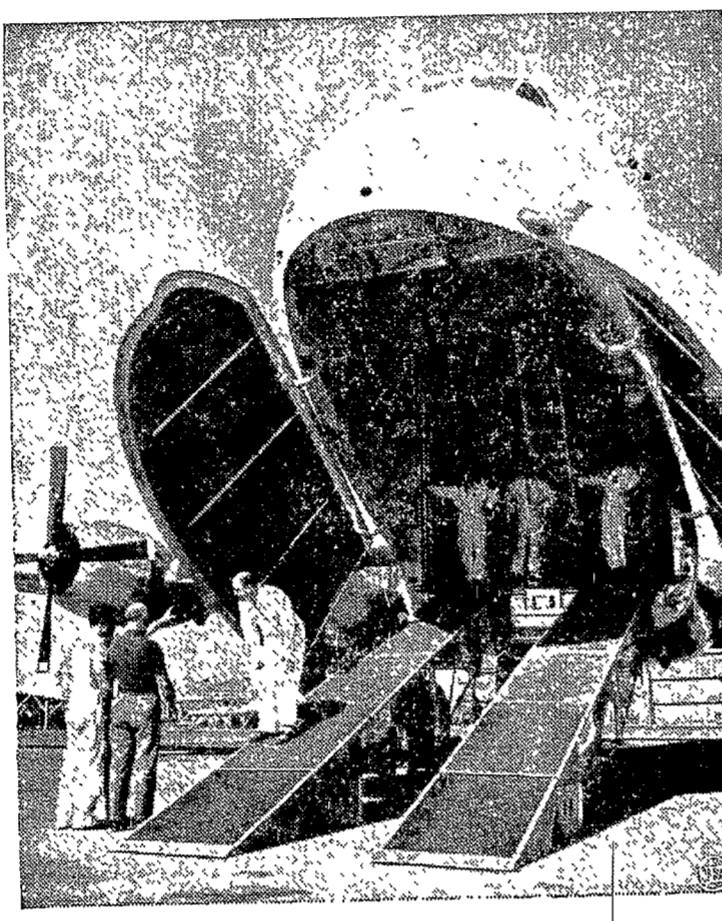

1. Atomic explosive is among the most expensive commodities in the world. To use it for blasting would be like using gold powder—not that cost is any object with the Russians in the field of atom competition.

2. If atomic explosive were used

Air Force's New Transport Is Mammoth 'Flying LST'

The Air Force's new Douglas C124A transport has clamshell nose doors and a built-in folding ramp, similar to the landing ships of World War II, making it unnecessary to dismantle heavy military equipment for loading. AT TOP, mechanics at Long Beach, Calif. maneuver the air giant out of its hanger. BELOW LEFT, wheels of the nose landing gear are big enough to withstand the shock of landing with loads up to 50,000 pounds. BELOW RIGHT, the clamshell doors swing open ready to take on rolling cargo. Two full-size city buses with passengers will fit in the fuselage. The heavy duty plane is 127 feet long, and has a 173-foot wingspan. Fully loaded, it can fly 1000 miles. unload and return to base without refueling.

in special circumstances for such purpose, the ground would become radioactive and this condition would persist for years, with annoying hazards always present.

3. A river diverted through an atomic cut would carry large quantities of radioactive materials, dispersing them widely at the risk of much harm. Nobody knows to-day just what these risks would entail.

"That is why the United Nations plan provides for an international cooperative to take over all such dangerous materials and facilities and to make sure that they are used for peaceful purposes only. Because nuclear fuel can be converted so easily and almost instantaneously into bombs, the proposals put forward by the Soviet Union would be wholly ineffective as a means of control."

Proposed U. N. Agree

The Russians have proposed repeatedly that the U. N. agree on two treaties. One treaty would ban atomic bombs immediately. The second pact would set up an international control commission working under the Security Council, where the Russians have the veto. It calls for inspection of atomic plants declared by each country. The western powers have answered time and again this is not effective control and they cannot accept this plan. The General Assembly rejected it last year.

Hickerson reiterated this refusal today.

4. One atom bomb, so far as the published facts in the United States indicate, could do more than make a small dent in a mountain. How many would be needed to topple a mountain or blast a channel is not known. The bomb which exploded in New Mexico in 1945, 100 feet above ground, made a shallow saucer in the earth 12 feet deep at the center.

Former Capone Henchmen To Jail

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Two former members of the late Al Capone's Chicago gang were ordered back to prison Friday by the U. S. circuit court of appeals.

The appeals court ruled that Louis (Little New York) Campagna and Charles (Cherry Nose) Gioe must finish serving their 10 year federal prison terms.

Campagna has been reported living on his 800-acre farm near Fowler, Ind., and Gioe in Chicago.

They were paroled on Aug. 13, 1947, after serving one-third of their sentences for conspiracy to extort $1,000,000 (M) from movie producers by threatening them with labor trouble.

Furore Arose A furore arose in Illinois over the paroles, and a congressional committee headed by Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich) investigated.

At the request of the committee, Campagna and Gioe were arrested for parole violation in July, 1948, and returned to the federal prison at Atlanta.

The warrants for their re-arrest were signed by Judge Fred Rogers of the U. S. parole board.

But the hoodlums' lawyers contended the board had not produced sufficient evidence to justify revoking the paroles.

Then Judge Marvin Underwood in U. S. district court at Atlanta ordered them released. They were freed again last Dec. 20.

Twin Co-op Provides Clothes

SUN VALLEY, Calif.—(AP)—The parents of five sets of year-old twins put their heads together and came up with a solution to the problem of how to keep their kids in clothes. Their answer: a co-operative.

The five sets of parents formed a twin club, and agreed to pass on to other mothers and fathers of double editions any clothes their children outgrow. In turn, they want parents of older twins to join the club and hand castoffs down to them.

IT COMES OUT HERE: Speaker of radio in Washington street-car is just over this strap-hanger's head as she listens to one commercial and reads another. Transit officials thought radio music would soothe riders; for what it did, see photo below.

By Julian S. Stein, Jr.
NEA Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Washington, which usually gets excited only in times of political crisis, is all upset about a little radio.

The problem involved is whether or not radio programs should be broadcast on the city's street-cars and buses. The controversy has become so hot that hearings have been held before the local Public Utilities Commission.

The commissioners say that no other issue has ever come so close to causing a riot in the hearing room. Further, the whole question is being closely watched by the Federal Communications Commission, which wonders whether an unwanted assault on the eardrums is unconstitutional.

At the hearing, the aroused anti-radio faction made the following charges, among others: Radio-rattled Federal workers will lose their efficiency on the job; average government employees will lose their equilibrium after a month or more of riding on these new musical chariots; the taxpayer will be out billions because Federal workers are groggy from radio jingles; thousands of our best public servants will become victims of streetcar-stroke or transit-trauma.

Some witnesses complained that the radio broadcasts constituted "an aggression to the sense of hearing." Some said that the constant noise "took away the right to think." Others countered with the argument that people can't think on streetcars and buses anyway—and besides the radios would be useful in times of disaster.

A psychiatrist testified that repeated exposure to a distasteful experience might lead to such complaints as high blood pressure and gastric ulcers. But a sound engineer replied that in time people would learn to ignore the broadcasts altogether.

One unsettled government worker stated that in a two-mile ride she heard three separate times that body odors are emitted by 13 areas of the skin—a piece of knowledge she evidently could have been just as happy without.

But there are some people who like the programs and thing the music is "soothing" and "inspirational." The transit company pointed to a survey in St. Louis which showed that over 75 per cent of the riders there liked to go to work in the rolling juke boxes. The pro-radio group has one ace in the hole—it is just possible that transit fares might go up if the company is deprived of the revenue brought in by the radio advertising.

But this threat doesn't appear to frighten the radio-haters. They say that, higher fares or no higher fares, the only thing they want to hear on a bus is the horn.

Crossroads Comment

by G. H. S.

Behind the steering wheel of an automobile, your safety and the safety of others depends considerably upon the type of glasses you have been using.

The only difference between leading a simple life yesterday and today is that today everyone wants to lead it luxuriously.

Impassioned pleas for tolerance often are implemented by intolerance.

"What this country needs is a good five cent cigar," said Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall while, presiding over the U. S. Senate during a debate on the needs of the country, thirty-five years ago.

The need still exists but a greater one today is for more ten-minute public speakers. The longest and driest speakers are those who have the least to say.

An audience will listen to an average speaker for twenty minutes before becoming restless. One who speaks beyond that time has to be good. An excellent speaker seldom trespasses over 60 minutes.

Program chairmen should attempt to determine in advance a speaker's qualifications. If he is an unknown quantity, limit him to twenty minutes. If he turns out to be good, the audience will let him go the whole stretch.

A stern program chairman limiting a speaker's time takes the chance of inviting the enmity of one man—the speaker—or the daggers of a hundred friends. But who wants to be stabbed.

There Once Was a Word

(Frank W. Rucker, Independence Examiner)

Once there was a word "thrift." It was a very important word. Parents taught its full meaning to their children. Teachers taught it in the schools. It was looked upon as a good moral and religious practice as well as one of good sound business sense. Men who had practiced it and had become successful were featured in literature as examples for youth.

The man who was able to take care of himself and his family out of his own earnings by means of good management and who was ready to work to the last ounce of his strength to do it was looked upon as a thrifty man and a most admirable character. This man sought no aid from his government or from his employer. He took pride in being able to take care of his own affairs and at the same time in being helpful to his neighbors. The chief boon to living for him was his independence.

In the early life of our nation habits of thrift were encouraged. We honored the man who by hard work, steady application of his abilities and careful management was able to provide for his own and at the same time lay aside some for the time when he might not be able to work and to earn.

Today we are discouraging men from work after they are 65 and we are discouraging them from saving their money for their support in times of sickness and when old age incapacitates them. It is strange, too, that this change of attitude comes at a time when men live longer and when their years of usefulness are lengthening rather than diminishing. It comes, too, at a time when production is needed most and when the nation needs more than ever tireless, self-reliant men.

Modern social security, where the government takes over the matter of savings for old age, and the pensions proposed by labor, whereby management completely pays the bill, are nicking hard at the thrift that once made strong and independent Americans. What man pays for himself, he appreciates, respects and utilizes. What comes to him without effort, he often abuses.

How much longer will we be able to encourage youth to have savings accounts? The ambition that fired their Dads is being taken over by government, which seems to want citizens to stop depending upon themselves and depend upon it.

Thrift once was a good word, spoken often. It once was a good practice, praised and encouraged. What and where is it now?

With the price of coffee skyrocketing, it is just as well that Americans as a rule serve the beverage in teacups instead of coffee cups. A true coffee cup holds a pint.

The little girl who takes her turn in the kitchen washing glasses and breaking too many, may lessen severe maternal scoldings if she uses this fact as an alibi: As it grows older, glassware becomes more fragile.

Dum Dora thinks they ought to arrest some tavern operators as illegitimate because they have no pop.

Famous last words:—When hubby answered his wife's arguments against buying a house with a narrow room upstairs, by declaring it was suitable for mother-in-law because she was narrow-minded.

A study in contrasts: observations of two leading Republicans anent the Democratic senatorial victory in New York. Governor Thomas E. Dewey declares the election was a "setback" for the Truman administration. Harold E. Stassen warns: "Clearly the Republican party needs a tremendous lot of rebuilding if it is to serve the people of America. The party is in a bad way."

Stassen's remark carries greater weight. If the Republican party doesn't harmonize itself and sell a program to the people, the two party system in the United States is entering the twilight phase.

An administration official says there is a determination in Washington to "let the coal industry and John L. Lewis, head of the miners' union, 'sweat out' their pension and new contract disputes." The net result will be the usual "freeze out" for John Q. Public.

If traveling motorists would place more emphasis on horse sense instead of horsepower they would return home safely.

The average adult person drinks approximately a ton of water every year. Straight, or diluted with alcohol?

With all the easy money being dished out "honestly" albeit ignorantly in Washington in return for a minimum of effort why in the name of boondoggling should a gang of men waste their time in such criminal activities as counterfeiting a million dollars.

Health Officials Start Out to Streamline Nation's Hospitals

By Douglas Larsen

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—One of the small parts of the President's long range national health program which did get through Congress has the potential of making U. S. hospitals much better places in which to be sick.

Inefficiency and varying standards are notorious in the management of hospitals. And it has only been recently that public health officials and doctors have awakened to this fact. It is keeping patients from getting full benefits out of medical progress.

The new law involved simply spells out in detail the authority of the U. S. Public Health Service in doing research on hospital management. And it directs the agency to try to sell hospitals on adopting the findings that this research might produce. Up until now PHC has been confined to a "brick and mortar" function. It has run the various federal aid plans aimed at spurring local hospital construction.

Little money is involved in doing this new job. PHS officials, in the process of trying to co-ordinate all U. S. hospital facilities, have the problem pretty well sized up. Congress appropriated $1,200,000 for the agency to farm out special research jobs on the problem to universities and health groups if they are needed.

Dr. J. R. McGibony, PHS official who will direct the work, explains that the annual hospital bill to patients in the U. S. is about $3,000,000,000 and that another half billion dollars each year is being spent on the construction of new hospitals. He says that less than one-tenth of one per cent of that sum has been spent on research to improve hospital service. And that, he claims, is less research money than is being spent trying to improve automobiles, radios or clothing, for instance.

Improving Diet Planning

Getting hospitals to serve better food is one of the big things Dr. McGibony hopes to accomplish. Food is almost as important in getting a patient well as the medicine he is given. Yet, Dr. McGibony says, a big percentage of hospitals don't run their kitchens as efficiently and cleanly as the average restaurant. And frequently there is scant attention paid to serving well-balanced and nutritious meals.

What he hopes to be able to do in this particular field is find out how the hospitals with the best kitchens operate, and make the information available to all of them. Part of the job is to show smaller institutions how to prepare and serve food without the elaborate kitchen equipment and without the help of full-time nutritionists which are available to the bigger hospitals.

Pharmacy departments in most hospitals need drastic improvements, Dr. McGibony says. Five per cent of a patient's bill is usually for medicine. In many cases medicines and drugs which deteriorate with age are kept on shelves long after their usefulness. New stocks are piled in front of old and the bottles in back finally have to be thrown away. That's pure waste, Dr. McGibony says, which could easily be avoided.

Source of Waste

Still another hospital function which needs standardization is record keeping. Most institutions keep elaborate records of patients, copying the biggest hospitals. Only reason for the biggest hospitals to do this is for research purposes. But there is no reason in the world why a medium-sized hospital which does no research should keep such records. It is a waste of time and money.

Those are just the most important management problems which need improving and standardization. There are many others, McGibony points out. For instance, there are no established lines of authority between the doctors who practice in the hospitals and the managers. There are no uniform accounting or billing systems among hospitals. Some charge patients for depreciation on the building. Some don't charge for special nurses. Many hospitals don't have a centralized purchasing system.

Dr. McGibony doesn't claim that streamlining, standardizing and generally improving hospital management will make any drastic cut in the cost to a patient. It is entirely possible that in the long run it might, he says. But what he and his staff are most interested in is improving the service which a hospital gives a patient by encouraging it to make the most efficient use of its facilities.

MOSES

(Editor's Note: This is the seventh of a series of studies from the Old Testament. The text is condensed from selections by Houston Hart for the new book, "In Our Image." Illustration by Guy Rowe is also from the book.

In the third month, when the children of Israel were gone forth out of the land of Egypt, the same day came they into the wilderness of Sinai. . . . And there Israel camped before the mount. And Moses went up unto God and the Lord called unto him, saying, Thus shalt thou tell the children of Israel: If ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all

God; and they stood at the nether part of the mount. And mount Sinai was altogether on a smoke, because the Lord descended upon it in fire. And God spake all these words, saying: I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: For I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and people; for all the earth is mine. And ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and an holy nation.

And Moses came and called for the elders of the people, and laid before their faces all these words which the Lord commanded him. And Moses told the words of the people unto the Lord.

And the Lord said unto Moses, Go unto the people, and sanctify them to day and to morrow, and let them wash their clothes, and be ready against the third day; for the third day the Lord will come down in the sight of all the people upon Mount Sinai. . . .

And on the third day in the morning there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud; so that all the people in the camp trembled. And Moses brought forth the people to meet with fourth generation of them that hate me; and shewing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.

Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labour, and do all thy work: But the seventh day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God; in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maidservant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates: For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day; wherefore the Lord blessed the sabbath day and hallowed it.

Honour thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long

Side Glances

And May You Live Long And Prosper?

upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not commit adultery.

Thou shalt not steal.

Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's wife, nor his man servant, nor his maid-servant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbour's.

And all the people saw the thunders and the lightnings, and the noise of the trumpet and the mountain smoking; and when the people saw it, they removed, and stood afar off. And they said unto Moses, Speak thou with us, and we will hear; but let not God speak with us, lest we die.

And Moses said unto the people, Fear not, for God is come to prove you, and that his fear may be before your faces, that ye sin not. And the people stood afar off, and Moses drew near unto the thick darkness where God was.

And the Lord gave unto Moses, when he had made an end of communing with him upon mount Sinai, two tables of testimony, tables of stone, written with the finger of God.

Q's and A's

Q—How many Senate seats are to be filled in the 1950 elections?

A—Thirty-two. The Constitution provides that one-third of the senators shall be chosen every second year.

Q—Which is the least populous of all states?

A—Nevada, least populous of all states, has fewer than two people per square mile.

Q—What are hailstones composed of?

A—Hailstones are made of layers of compact snow and ice, which are built up through the freezing of raindrops and successive gatherings of coatings of snow and frost.

Q—When did the sport of archery become popular in the United States?

A—Organized archery as a sport in the United States began with the formation of a club called the United Bowmen of Philadelphia in 1826. The sport waned in popularity through the Civil War period, but was revived by the formation of the National Archery Association in 1878.

Q—Do birds fly in the stratosphere?

A—Since the air at that elevation lack the necessary buoyancy and oxygen, it is generally accepted that birds do not fly in the stratosphere.

Q—What is the botanical classification of pod peas?

Social Situations

SITUATION: You are a dinner guest in a private home and there are no cigarettes or ash trays on the table.

WRONG WAY: Take out your cigarettes and offer them to others at the table.

RIGHT WAY: Do not smoke at the table unless your hostess indicates that she does not object by supplying cigarettes.

Music Modes

MUSIC is sometimes presented by conductors and commentators in a stuffed-shirt manner that is exceedingly obnoxious and evenless interesting. Some of the commentators send their honey-covered voices out of our radios with such an impersonal, monotonous tone that the music, no matter how simple and intimate it may be is placed on a high, cold stone pedestal. With such a presentation it becomes a thing looked upon with awe and frightening dignity.

Then other times the conductor is described in such a frigid manner that a vision suddenly appears before you and you see a spindly old, white (long too) haired man come hobbling out to the podium, bow slightly and slap his baton on his music stand. At this point the orchestra jumps to attention and the music comes forth with machine-like efforts. Of course that happens only occasionally as do the mistakes of pronouncing the compositions titles.

For hours the commentators practice how to say Khachaturian or "Schdanda, der Dudelsackpfeifer," when "Concert Piece" would do just as well as "Concertstück" or some of the other names that have a smaller meaning literally.

It was discussed recently in a local music circle that Abe Rosenthal has a terrific knack of being friendly to his audience and giving them a feeling of being fellow music creators and music lovers, not stooges who don't know what's being said or what's really going on.

Fortunately there is no commentator for our symphony to chill us with his dry monotoned voice and impeccable way of narrating the proceedings. We are fortunate, however, to have a man who conducts his stage presence and his orchestra with such a human, easygoing manner that it brings him and the audience together with a feeling of intimacy and mutual admiration.

This man with the baton has also planned programs for both the Sedalia Men's Choral club and the Sedalia Symphon, orchestra that are lively and appeal to the many children who are ardent concert visitors as well as their elders.

Abe Rosenthal's versatility can be seen with a glance at his manuscript cluttered bookshelf. On the center shelf one can find a fine album Bernstein's "Jeremiah Symphony" and snuggled up close by is an album of good jazz, "Blues by Basie."

May Richard Esser and Hal Bamberg forgive us for neglecting to mention that fine clarinet section of our symphony orchestra. Somehow the names of Mr. Esser and Mr. Bamberg and the fact that they play clarinets escaped the listing of the orchestra's personnel that was published in this paper recently.

Although the incident occurred many days ago this writer's conscience finally caught up with him. Now, gentlemen take a bow.

"Music is the only language in which you cannot say a mean or sarcastic thing."—John Erskine.

Maybe Mr. Erskine hasn't heard of Spike Jones or read the comments of numerous critics. Hasta la vista.

Rising Prices, Rising Budgets Cause Rising Tempers, Too

Well, what do you know? They've found something else to blame on the housewife. Now our politicians at Washington are hinting, and none too subtly, that retail food prices are not coming down as fast as farm prices because American housewives are getting lazy.

They say we are demanding food from the grocery store which is all ready to throw into the pot or frying pan. That we are using more canned goods and ready-prepared foods. That we want our fresh vegetables, trimmed, washed and sorted before we use them. That we want only the choicest cuts of meat, and so on and so forth.

Okay, say we do want to make use of the latest innovations to save us time in the kitchen. Is that lazy?

What's the Difference? When a man uses the most modern methods in his office or factory we call him progressive or efficient.

When Mama does the same thing in her home she's lazy. That's enough to make us hopping mad. But what makes us madder is the fact that there just isn't any really cheap food around today.

The other day I stood behind a woman in a meat market who priced half a dozen cuts of meat before she finally decided the family would get stew that night.

Stew—the poor man's porterhouse. And what did stew meat for a family of four cost her? It cost 98 cents. And there was such a little dab of it she remarked to the butcher that it didn't seem to be enough.

So look, gentlemen, don't go trying to blame the high cost of food on us poor housewives.

We might get sore. In fact we might get sore enough to ask you to come along marketing with us and kindly point out all those cheap, nourishing foods we're too lazy to use.

Friendly Enemies! Much to the disgust of Ann Sheridan, Cary Grant displays a tell-tale pair of Nylons in this scene from "I Was a Male War Bride," the hilarious comedy opening today at the Fox Theatre. Bas-Relief — A creative technique that simplifies a theme to its basic form. From "Feininger on Photography."

By Irving Desfor
AP Newsfeatures

My original intention was to utter the first warning to all you shutter bugs that Christmas is fast approaching and the time was at hand to start thinking... and doing something about it. But something has come up so compelling, so photographically newsworthy, that I'm dropping everything else on the dock and won't even mention my Christmas warning.

I've just seen "Feininger on Photography." This new book is the most thorough and workmanlike job on the practical aspects of photography to be found in any one volume. Published by Ziff-Davis, it is handsomely bound and beautifully printed in keeping with the top quality of the contents.

Andreas Feininger, crack Life magazine staff photographer, has condensed the results of twenty years of photographic applied research into two aspects. Part I deals with the technique of making a photograph; Part II explains the art of taking a photograph. To Feininger, photography is treated strictly as a means to an end; the final photograph. Having mastered technique — and almost anyone can, he says — the idea is to put it to work, unconsciously, while mind and imagination tackle picture subjects in such a way as to create purposeful and exciting photographs.

The book seems headed for a wide range of appeal. Rank beginners will necessarily take the first few chapters in easier stride, but it's written so simply that the fundamental knowledge is easy to digest. Advanced amateurs will undoubtedly first begin to understand the "why" of many routine photo processes without feeling their intelligence has been insulted. And professionals may welcome a basic review but can profit most from the inspiration and creative angles it suggests.

Feininger's present photographic position follows the best traditional pattern... early failure, a new career, hard work, success. The settings, too, seem out of a standard Hollywood script; an American citizen born in Paris, France in 1906; schooled in art in Germany and France; unsuccessful as architect in those countries and also in Sweden. There, after marriage, he launched into photography because he felt its creative urge. Click!

Soon he was writing books on the subject which were published in Europe. About 10 years ago he came to America. His immediate competent handling of freelance assignments for Life magazine established him as an accomplished photo journalist. His most notable specialty has been his experiments with telephoto-graphs. The book is liberally illustrated with forceful examples of his expertise in that field.

In spite of efforts to draft an international schedule, 63 varieties of standard time are in use in the world today.

Historic Church Fireplace Found

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—An old colonial fireplace that once was a part of the First Reformed German church in this country has been uncovered in a long unused storage loft, one-time site of the church. Now the Reformed and Evangelical Church, it was founded in 1727 in a barn. In 1772 it began the erection of an enlarged church.

During the Revolutionary War the Race Street Reformed church, as it was then known, had an honorable part in the struggle of the colonists for independence. When the British captured Philadelphia and their troops marched by the church the ten-year-old son of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Casper Dietrich Weyberg, stood on the doorstep and shouted: "Hurrah for George Washington!"

The Hessians imprisoned Dr. Weyberg and used the church as a hospital. In 1837, the city contributed $15,200 to renovate the church as a historic shrine.
